Dear

Keeping in view the objectives of excellence, quality improvement in school education, continuing professional development and balanced education for every child, refresher courses and enrichment programs are conducted from time to time through Navodaya Leadership Institutes. The focus of the training program is required to be a personalized environment for enhancing professional development which would translate into comfortable educational environment in the Navodaya Vidyalayas. In accordance with the CPD policy we, as educators, are jointly responsible for our own professional development and participation in the programs aimed at professional development. In the process of shaping the future of school initiatives and leading the learning environment for the children Navodaya Vidyalaya Samiti as a whole shall work in cohesion in the direction of developing contemporary capabilities in ensuring modern quality education to the children.

Although continuous efforts are being made from time to time towards the up-gradation of the skills and strategies in quality improvement, the matter related to testing and assessment requires much more involvement from our side. Testing and assessment is also a major experience which children undergo in the school environment. It becomes imperative on part of the teachers to feel and experience type of activities students are involved in. To be a part of the system and also to give the children confidence about the process it may be essential to take up testing and assessment as an experience.

Therefore, it is required that in each of the training program a formal testing of teachers may be incorporated in providing the experience of the process of testing and evaluation. A teacher teaching up to the level of class X shall be given a question paper of class X level and similarly teacher teaching the class XII shall be given a question paper of class XII. The trainees shall undergo same experience of writing answers like students. They shall evaluate the same with internal interchange. We have discussed this widely and in our considered view this will help to improve individual skills of teachers in preparing the children in the competitive environment. On the whole this process helps the teachers to get feedback on the preparations to be made. This process shall be an informed activity. This being a learning and development exercise, we do not intend to use the outcome of this for any service matters.

You are requested to please convey the requirements to the candidates called for the training in advance and give the feedback to the teachers on completion of the training. I expect a brief report of compliance from each of the NLIs.

With Regards

Yours sincerely,

(Bishwajit Kumar Singh)
